Failure to Comply

Failure to comply with the National Flood Act of 1998 can happen several ways:

- Failure to timely or properly complete the Standard Flood Hazard Determination Form on covered loans
- Failure to give the borrower the notice of flood hazards within the right time frame
- Incorrectly calculate the amount of insurance required.

All of these can cause federal regulators to impose civil penalties that can cost your institution tens of thousands of dollars annually. Now is the time to call FICOR to make sure you are adequately covered.
